Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 27.—[To the Los Angeles Times:] Congress is arguing this whole short session over what to do with the $378,000,000 surplus. It seems odd that nobody has ever thought of returning it to the source they saved it from, the army, navy and aviation. Through not spending anything on them is how we got it. The first political party that is far-sighted enough to buy airplanes instead of votes is going to be setting mighty pretty the next few years. That's what Beverly Hills is doing, it is preparing. I just today had to hire another cop for Saturdays and Sundays.

Yours executively,
WILL ROGERS.

FALL TAKEN SICK WITH PNEUMONIA

Ex-Secretary of Interior Stricken at El Paso Upon Return from Trip

EL PASO, Dec. 27. (P)—Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, is ill here with pneumonia, but unless complications develop he will recover, his attending physician said today.

The former Secretary, recently acquitted of charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the El Paso oil lease, was stricken Sunday on his arrival from Washington.

Fall's private secretary, R. H. Clum, attributed the illness in part to the strain of the prolonged trip to Washington.

Mr. Fall had planned to remain in El Paso and at his ranch, where he had been for some time, but he was forced to return to Washington for a matter of business.

DEBATING DEFENDED IN BATTLE

Liability in Rum Deaths Denied

Latest Series of Fatalities from Drinking Poisoned Alcohol Draws Fire

Toll from Yuletide Liquor Reaches Sixteen in All Parts of Country

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—Charges that some of the sixteen alcoholic poisoning deaths over the Christmas holidays were caused by poisoned rum brought a defense of government denaturing from Chester P. Mills, federal prohibition administrator.

Chief Medical Examiner Norris, commenting on the sixteen deaths, said: "The government knows it is not stopping drinking by putting poison in alcohol. It is what bootleggers are doing with it, and yet it continues its poisoning process. Knowing this to be true, the government must be charged with the deaths that poisoned liquor causes."

Assistant Medical Examiner Gonzales said that autopsies on seven of the deaths showed that the rum had been poisoned with strychnine.

The denaturing, Mills said, was done in order that users of alcohol for nonbeverage purposes might avoid the high tax on grain alcohol and there was no intent on the part of the government to risk the lives of citizens. The denaturing has been going on since 1906, Mills said.

The total of deaths from alcoholic poisoning was raised to sixteen today with three deaths in Bellevue Hospital and two elsewhere. Right additional alcoholic poison cases were admitted at Bellevue during the day.

NEW FORMULA SOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (P)—Government chemists are hopeful in the near future of making industrial alcohol more palatable than the poisonous through new formula, but in the meantime the government is accepting no responsibility for any deaths resulting from the drinking of liquor recently.

HEAVY LOSS IN BATTLE

Diaz Troops Forced to Go Toward Bluefields as Result of Fight

Americans Try to Force New Neutral Zones' Creation to Help Foreigners

MANAGUA, Dec. 27. (P)—The opposing forces of the Conservative and Liberal governments at Las Perlas on the east coast have declared a truce, to bury the dead and care for the wounded. The losses have been heavy on both sides in a four-day battle, in which the Liberals, asserted to have been aided by Mexican fighting men, have forced the Conservatives to withdraw toward Bluefields.

The American collector of customs at Bluefields says it is reported that 300 Mexicans have been fighting with the Liberals and that the revolutionary side has plenty of field artillery. The strength of the Liberals in this series of engagements is estimated at 1500 men, who were opposed by 1300 Diaz troops. The Diaz adherents are said narrowly to have escaped capture or annihilation.

Re-admiral Latimer, in command of the American warships, reports that Puerto Cabezas, Rio Grande, El Bluff and Bluefields have been established as neutral zones. Both Conservative and Liberal must disarm or evacuate the territory.

These neutral zones relieve the Diaz government of responsibility for protecting the cities and deprive the Liberals of their seal of government. The admiral wants other neutral zones declared, and if this happens the entire east coast will be neutral. Details from the scene of the operations are said to show that the action of the American government in recognizing President Diaz.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (P)—Steps to maintain the Bluefields neutral zone control last October by agreement of the Nicaraguan conservative and liberal governments, which was reported today by Re-admiral Julian Latimer. Advice, however, were lacking as to developments at Puerto Cabezas, where the Diaz forces and the American warships were landed last week to protect American lives and property.

Re-admiral Latimer said that the Diaz forces, which suffered defeat recently in action with the Liberals, are now being retrained by the American warships. He said that the Diaz forces are now being retrained by the American warships.

METRIC FOR INFANTS' USE ADVOCATED

Kindergarten Pupils Can Comprehend System With Ease, Declares Proponent

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27. (P)—Children in the kindergarten should be taught measurements as soon as they can change a dime, Dr. R. J. McFarren of Washington told the Medical Association convention tonight, in urging the adoption of the metric system in the kindergarten classes.

"The French child," said Dr. McFarren, "learns measurement in this manner in half the time, and with one-half the effort, and much more thoroughly than the American child."

"Why should the bright street urchin," he continued, "who makes change for your morning paper with the accuracy of a bank cashier, have to spend weary years in school before he can learn to measure a piece of candy or a length of string?"

At the close of today's session a resolution was passed calling on Congress to adopt the metric system.

CANADA SENDS ZERO WAVE

Blizzard Sweeps Midwest as Sleet Covers East; California Escapes Damage

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Bitterly cold weather, accompanied by snow, is sweeping toward the Middle West tonight from the Canadian Western Provinces, where a low record of 38 deg. below zero was registered today. General temperatures all through the middle western section today were below normal. Today's lowest reading in Chicago was 17 deg. above.

New York and the Middle Atlantic States report one of the severest cold storms of the season, while in the New England States a nine-inch fall of snow was hampering traffic of all kinds.

To the west severe weather hit New Mexico and Arizona driving the mercury down to 13 deg. above zero at Albuquerque and to 33 deg. at Phoenix. Snow fell in Tucson for the first time in three years. At Superior, Ariz., there was a four-inch snowfall.

The Chicago Weather Bureau tonight said the clear, cold weather of the last few days would give way to a blizzard tomorrow morning with falling temperatures which now are sweeping over the plains states.

After a two-day respite New York skidded to its labor today and back home again on a thick covering of ice as the streets were displayed this season. Today's temperatures about duplicated Sunday's, when the mean was 38 deg. The joy streets were the cause of many accidents to motorists and pedestrians. Telephone service suffered from the snow, especially in New Jersey.

SIX KILLED IN FLOODS

Raging Waters Damage South

Five States Hard Hit With Large Areas Inundated by Swollen Streams

FORECASTS OF FURTHER RAINS BRING NEW TERROR FOR AFFLICTED SECTIONS

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 27. (P)—Six deaths and property damage into the hundreds of thousands were estimated tonight from flood waters that spread over lowlands in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama. The flood began to recede in most of the inundated area and the crest of the flood was in sight at other points.

Forecasters of further rains in the flooded area, however, caused apprehension, and additional safeguards to protect life and property were taken. The heaviest property damage and most widespread flood was through Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee in the valley of the Cumberland River and the thorough portions of Tennessee where small streams became raging torrents—spread out over the lowlands.

More than 3000 persons in Nashville were being routed from their homes when the Cumberland inundated fifty blocks of the city. The Weather Bureau there forecast a stage of fifty-two to fifty-three feet before the flood reaches its crest. The Cumberland will probably continue to rise until Wednesday or Thursday and is higher tonight than at any time since 1893.

BRINT OF DAMAGE
Tennessee lost the brunt of the flood, many small streams spreading out over lowlands covering highways and causing an estimated damage of $200,000 to roads in the state. According to the State Highway Commission, the Tennessee River has begun falling near the headwaters.

Eastern Kentucky experienced a second flood within a week as a result of heavy rains Friday night and Saturday, but the waters had begun receding tonight. Other portions of Kentucky where swollen streams covered highways and lowlands reported the flood receding, except in the western part of the state, where the Cumberland crosses and where the Ohio River is predicted to reach flood stage Wednesday or Thursday.

FARMERS WARNED
In the vicinity of Paducah, Ky., and Evansville, Ind., farmers living in the lowlands have been warned. Basements of some stores at Paducah will be flooded when the Ohio reaches flood stage at forty-three feet there. Crop damage in the valley of the Ohio River in Arkansas will be heavy. Arkansas points reported water receding.

Saving Time At the Dentist's

People with little time to spare can get their dental work done promptly in offices using the E. R. Parker System. The old idea that you had to do a lot of waiting, make a lot of visits and go through a lot of professional red tape, is all wrong. That is what makes old style dentistry so costly and unsatisfactory.

Under the E. R. Parker System your teeth are examined without delay by an experienced dentist, who tells you at once what work your teeth need and what the price will be for doing it. If you decide to have your teeth cared for, the work can be done immediately. The work then proceeds without a single postponement, and is completed as soon as good dentistry can possibly be done at the lowest price. The result is not only a saving of time, but money also. And, best of all, you will be satisfied, for E. R. Parker System Dentists are just as particular as you are. Examinations and advice free.

INDIANA GRAFT JURY REPORTS

Corruption Charges Held
Not Supported

Continuation of Inquiry
Recommended

Judge Orders Evidence to be Impounded

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 27. (AP)—Corruption charges made against Indiana State officials have been given no substantiation in testimony presented to the Marion county grand jury, that body reported today. The grand jurors recommended, however, that investigation of the charges be pursued and suggested that the succeeding grand jury to be sworn in at the beginning of the New Year should continue the inquiry.

Judge James A. Collins of the Marion County Criminal Court, ordered all evidence impounded. After the reports had been returned, Ralph Kane, a special deputy prosecutor, objected to turning over his transcript of the evidence, but Judge Collins ordered Sheriff Hawkins to bring in all of the evidence in Kane's possession.

The grand jury investigation was instigated and supervised by the publisher of the Vincennes (Ind.) Commercial, charged that State and municipal officials had conspired with David C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, in obtaining their office. Stephenson now is serving a life sentence for the murder of Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis.

Difficulty in obtaining witnesses and the unwillingness of some witnesses to testify were set forth by the investigating body as reasons why the inquiry should be pursued.

The report brought to a conclusion eleven weeks of inquiry into the corruption charges made by Adams, and given nation-wide circulation because of their sensational character and also because of the standing of their sponsor. Adams, a member of the Republican Indiana Editorial Association, made charges against men in all of the evidence in Kane's possession.

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Dec. 27. (AP)—Although three tugs worked all day in an endeavor to pull off the Cunard liner, the ship still was fast aground late today with little prospect of being released unless more powerful vessels came to her assistance.

A strong sea storm was driving the vessel further on the mud bank. The Franconia grounded near the entrance to San Juan Harbor Sunday.

OLD GUN FIGHTER DIES
RENO (Nev.) Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Death has called Joe Galvin, noted gambler and gunfighter of Bodie, Sandberg, Goldfield and other mining camps of Southern California. He was 64 years old. The old frontiersman died in the county hospital at Reno after a hectic career. A few days before his death a "friend" attempted to cheat him out of $40, but the old gambler collected at the point of a gun.

DOG BRAVES "40 BELOW" COLD TO BRING AID FOR INJURED MEN

LITTLE SQUAW (Alaska) Dec. 28. (AP) (Delayed)—Carrying a scribbled note from two miners crippled by an explosion, one of them blinded, a Malamute dog crossed a 3000-foot pass in the Brooks Mountain Range at night with the mercury 40 degrees below zero, to his master's cabin here. The injured men arrived here today on a sled.

Oscar Ottermoen, miner, was awakened at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning by his dog, Nigger, whining and scratching at the door. A note on the husky's neck read "Come. Both seriously injured. Explosion." Ottermoen had lent the dog to J. S. Shaw and C. Dunlap, who were mining on Tobin Creek, beyond the pass.

From the Little Squaw radio station, established the 15th inst. by the United States Signal Corps, nine miles north of the Arctic Circle, word was sent to Fairbanks, Alaska, to rush an airplane to take the patients to a hospital.

Shaw and Dunlap were found shivering and covered with a layer of copper by explosion of a box of dynamite. Dunlap was blinded.

PRUNE MEN MAKE PLANS TO ORGANIZE

Californians Seek to Put Industry on Stable and Paying Basis

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—A movement to save the California prune-growing industry from demoralization and restore it to a stable, paying basis is under way. The plan contemplates the grouping together of a minimum of 90 per cent of the prune growers of the State, a similar grouping of packers, the elimination of competitive bidding and selling and the setting of a single price that shall be State, nation and world-wide.

The action was made necessary, it was said, by the breakdown of the present California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association. This association includes only about 80 per cent of the prune growers of the State. The result is that packers engage in competitive bidding for the crops of the association and of independent growers and then engage in competitive selling against each other. In the last few years prices have consistently gone down as the season advanced.

The crux of the new plan is to get all of the growers together. Once they are joined, it will be possible to enter into a uniform contract with the packers. A part of that contract will be that all packers must sell at the same price. Once competition is eliminated, the whole effort of the industry can be directed toward sending market.

The plan was explained by J. H. Parker, manager of the present association, who said that growers, packers and bankers are in accord with the proposal.

HORSES REPLACE CARS FOR SNOWY MONTHS

RENO (Nev.) Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—The long-neglected horse has come back to his own with the arrival of winter in the mountainous regions of Northern California and Nevada. Horse-drawn stages and wagons have temporarily replaced motor stages and trucks in many districts, and the animals are at the demand.

Stage companies are finding it impossible to operate motor vehicles in the deep snow, but horses make the difficult grades in fair time. Many mountain towns near Reno have returned for a brief period to the old ways of the frontier, with old-time stage drivers replacing chauffeurs.

BY JACK STARR-BUNT
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—The priceless jade vase, said to be the most valuable object of its kind in the world, reported recently to have been smuggled into the United States, has been located and now rests resplendently in a special case in the National Museum of Mexico.

The vase, bequeathed to the National Museum, together with other valuable archaeological pieces, by Miguel Alemán, president of Mexico, was found in the possession of a man named Juan, who had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death. The vase was found in the possession of a man named Juan, who had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

It was rumored that the Secretary of Public Education, who has charge of the National Museum, was about to obtain the confiscation of this famous relic, and that at the time advanced the theory that a family inheritance of the vase had been discovered in the possession of a man named Juan, who had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

The jade vase, it was learned, has been in the possession of one Jose Villanueva, who, acting through his attorney, has delivered the vase to the National Museum of Archaeology. Villanueva, it appears, had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

BY JACK STARR-BUNT
MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—The priceless jade vase, said to be the most valuable object of its kind in the world, reported recently to have been smuggled into the United States, has been located and now rests resplendently in a special case in the National Museum of Mexico.

The vase, bequeathed to the National Museum, together with other valuable archaeological pieces, by Miguel Alemán, president of Mexico, was found in the possession of a man named Juan, who had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

It was rumored that the Secretary of Public Education, who has charge of the National Museum, was about to obtain the confiscation of this famous relic, and that at the time advanced the theory that a family inheritance of the vase had been discovered in the possession of a man named Juan, who had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

The jade vase, it was learned, has been in the possession of one Jose Villanueva, who, acting through his attorney, has delivered the vase to the National Museum of Archaeology. Villanueva, it appears, had been in the possession of the vase since the late president's death.

Copper Toss on Our Infant Industries' Boats

"IRON is the basis of industry," according to an old saying. But if civilization can be gauged in iron and steel tonnage, there is another metal that gives a pretty accurate measure of comfort and convenience—copper.

In the iron age, a woman would be a woman with a broom. But with copper added to our civilization, she turns on a vacuum cleaner. There is copper in the motor of the wire, the electric utility system behind all the telephone, telegraph, radio, automobile, trolley car. Copper is used in railroad equipment, and for better buildings, ships and so forth. This country leads the world in its per capita consumption of the "refinement" metal.

COPIES WANTED?
The series of business studies, written by James H. Collins, the internationally known writer for the First National Bank of Los Angeles, will be published in January. Have these articles been of service to you? Have they solved one or more of the problems confronting your business or pointed the way to the solution?

Would a portfolio of the entire series be of service to you or to one of your good customers, here or in the East? If the demand is sufficient we will have the series printed in book form. Please write Department 30-F-1.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has, in copper, an alluring industrial opportunity. On the land side, the Pacific-Southwest is entirely surrounded by copper. For the metal is mined in Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Montana and in this state.

But after the metal is out of the ground, and smelted into matte near the mines, it becomes raw material for advanced industries. Electrolytic refineries separate the metal from the last impurities, and small percentages of other metals, such as gold, silver, and platinum, are recovered. Great electrical and equipment factories work it up into trolley wire, dynamo, telephone cables, articles of copper, brass and bronze.

Thus, while neighboring Arizona mines half the copper produced in the United States, not a pound is refined or manufactured in the Pacific-Southwest. The concentrate all goes to highly developed eastern refineries and factories.

Southern California now uses above 60,000,000 pounds of copper yearly, and its consumption leaps ahead with rapid community growth. Just as every new subdivision must have so many tons of iron water pipe and lamp posts, so copper wire.

The next article by Mr. Collins will appear in this paper on January 11.

defined, the customer obtaining New Jersey can sell to big industrial purchasers in the East, or to the copper-using countries of Europe. Fire-war Germany's thriving industries were largely based on copper, for which she was our best customer.

A REFINERY in Southern California calls for similar connections. But there is a good "horse trade" basis for beginning.

Copper smelters and mines use vast quantities of supplies. Arizona now buys these in the East. But Southern California manufacturers might often furnish freight rates. By getting closer to Arizona's copper industry, they can help it cut copper costs. The two states are close neighbors, but still too far apart as traders.

FINANCE is another interesting factor. Mining requires capital. Southern California has plenty of capital, and understands mining. Arizona is so rich in metal that its financial needs are largely taken care of by eastern corporations. In Nevada, Idaho and other mining sections, where the enterprises are smaller, capital is not so easily come by.

"Come and help us develop our resources, and we'll be glad to patronize a Southern California refinery," say the people north of us.

With all respect to the community, sometimes our young local industries suggest a boy with shiny new boots.

When Southern California gets ready to put copper toes on the boy's boots, the copper is there.

"SAY I learn a lot from your articles," said a reader the other day. "But what are you trying to prove?"

Let's begin the New Year by answering his question.

Snodgrass, Westbrook Face Richards and Kinsey

The world's best woman tennis player, most colorful champion, most temperamental performer and widest exponent of the court games, viz., and to wit, Suzanne Lenglen, makes her bow to the Los Angeles public at the Olympic Auditorium tonight.

Along with Red Grange, Babe Ruth, (Fenches) Browning, Alvin Karpis, McPherson and Gertrude Ederle, Suzanne is a much-publicized personage, so it is reasonable to believe that Mr. C. G. Pyle, who pays her to play tennis, and whom the fans pay to see her play, tennis, will have quite a delegation of tennis-lovers at the Auditorium tonight.

In fact, the roster of great and near-great alone is enough to occupy quite a large block of seats. Mrs. W. M. Henry, women's singles champion of the world, will be in the city.

Glenn S. Warner's Cardinals, making up the best football squad Stanford ever had, and also the most "cocky" and confident outfit in the West, were given a stiff workout at the Pasadena Bowl yesterday.

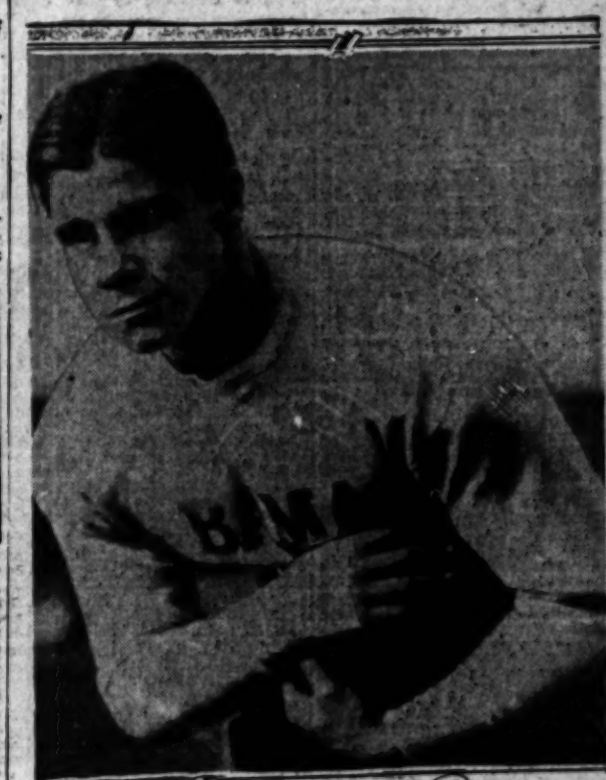

Fourteen of the Stanford Red second-year players, who were in the "Lark" which arrived yesterday morning.

Practices have been entirely too much disrupted at Stanford by the lay-off following the California game, by final examination week, and by Christmas vacation, to suit "Pop" and the veteran coach says further that he will have to put the team through a series of practices.

PROTEST OLYMPIC CONTROL

National Federation Withdraws from American Sport Body Because of A.A.U. Domination

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Protesting alleged domination of America's participation in the 1928 Olympic Games by a minority group controlled by the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Amateur Athletic Federation at its annual meeting voted late today to withdraw from the American Olympic Association.

Freighting conflict with the A.A.U. in Haguenau, France, the federation, which claims within its membership 80 per cent of the nation's amateur athletic activities, then adopted a program for 1927 which calls for frequent meetings in every section of the country and a more intensive development of its work along State lines.

The meeting was unanimous in its decision to split with the Olympic body, in spite of an effort by Gustavus T. Kirby, president of the A.A.U., to heal the rift.

The chief objection to the huddle was that it has tended to "slow up" games.

CHUCKLES from LIFE

The First Gentleman of the Land

WASHINGTON, March 8, 1936.—(By Our Special Correspondent.)—Hardly had the telegraph wires ceased clicking their story of the inauguration of Emma Seitz as President of the United States than I sought out Mr. Hugo Seitz, ex-President of the First Gentleman of the Land.

I found him modest, even diffident, and in no way affected by the honor that had come to him through the statesmanship of his wife.

"An intimate view of President Seitz from one who knows," he said, "must be when I mentioned my errand."

"Ah—that is difficult."

"Let me assure you, however," he continued, "that your new executive is more than the red-blooded, two-fisted she-man the world knows. To such as myself, to whom she is not the President, but Emma, she can subvert and become at times almost tender. Yes, almost tender."

"And yourself," I insisted, "tell me of yourself."

"But what can the readers of the men's page in your great journal care about poor little me?" replied Mr. Seitz, deprecatingly.

"I was just a simple boy on our Kansas farm when Emma, then but a humble Alderwoman, came to pass the summer. She wooed me, ah, so temptingly, and in a month I was hers. Need I say I have never regretted it?"

"Several years ago," he went on, winningly, "a representative of the Louis Stone League came to me and urged that I retain by the honor that had come to him through the statesmanship of his wife."

"I told him, 'Perhaps I am not one of your so-called modern men. I am of the plain, home-loving sort, and my wife's name is good enough for me. You see—' he concluded, smiling disarmingly, 'I hope to be the master of my household.' And so I left him—the most unassuming, charming and (shall I add?) the handsomest First Gentleman of the Land that ever lent his gracious presence to the White House tea-table."

Commission Men Arrange for Mexican Crops

West Coast Supply Found to be Inadequate

Magazine Writer Investigates Oil Operations

BY LEE SHIPPY

TAMPOCO (Mex.) Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—R. J. Morrell and M. C. Drew, representing the Rivers Brothers commission house of Los Angeles, Cal., were in the Manuel district near Tampico last week seeking consignments of winter vegetables and other agricultural products. Besides the Manuel district they are understood to have interviewed farmers in a number of other districts and to have made arrangements for important shipments. Morrell has returned to Los Angeles to ship out crates and supplies to growers with whom they have made arrangements, but Drew still is here and expects to remain here until the export tomato crop has been harvested. The commission house is said to have been doing business on the West Coast of Mexico for some years, but this is its first venture on the east coast.

SUPPLY INADEQUATE
Among growers here this fact has made a great impression. It seems to be indisputable evidence that the United States demand for winter vegetables is far greater than all sources can supply at present, and that there is no danger of vegetable overproduction in Mexico for a long time. Hereafter east coast vegetable growers have shipped direct to New York, never having any surplus to send to Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans or any other distributing center. Now have they made any shipments to the United States by rail. The last place they would have thought of sending shipments to was Southern California, for the impression prevailed here that Southern California already produced far more winter vegetables than it could use, and with the aid of its natural irrigation, the west coast of Mexico, was America's chief source of supply. The fact that Los Angeles finds it profitable to compete with New York in this territory indicates that now the United States is looking to Mexico more than to itself or to any other country for winter vegetables, and that when the irrigation and other development projects now under way in Mexico (especially on the west coast) are completed, the Mexican market, far from being overcrowded, will merely be so much greater that it will attract more buyers. Not only the United States, but Canada and Europe may look to Mexico more than to any other country for fresh vegetables and fruits twelve months in the year.

In other words, the possibilities of Mexican vegetable growing have not yet been scratched. On the west coast Los Angeles is the only important distributing center for Mexican products, and it cannot get enough. On the east coast New York is the only distributing center and cannot get enough. The other American cities, east and west, have not yet waked up to the possibilities of Mexican business, and Mexico itself is just beginning to wake up to them. The west coast of Mexico is taking the lead in this, but the field is so broad that there is plenty of room for both. The east coast and the west coast need not be competitors, they can be co-operators.

GEM-STUDED COVENANT ARK FOR SAN FRANCISCO TEMPLE

LONDON, Dec. 27. (AP)—An Ark of the Covenant, nine feet high and weighing one and one-half tons, made of burnished bronze and studded with jewels, is en route to San Francisco where it is to be set up in the Temple Emmanuel as a memorial to Marcus Koehn from his children. It was constructed by two California artists in their Chelsea studio. The ark is really a miniature temple. The interior is lined with panels of old cedar, on which wrought in Gesso, are the symbols of the tree of life, the passion wine, the lion and the lamb and a crown. To obtain the details for their work the artists, George Denison and Frank Ingerson, studied in the British Museum for three months, finding what they sought for the ark's interior in a medieval manuscript. The outside of the ark is covered with the symbols for the tribes in blue panels, with gold repousse work, studded with gems. At either end is a big lion's head, high-lighted with gold. The roof is made of overlapping tiles in gold repousse and there are more than 300 sapphires and ruby enamel-jewels which keep the tiles in place.

FOE OF TRAINING ACCUSES ARMY

Relative of Wilson Writes to Secretary Davis

Rev. J. N. Sayre Says Free Speech Imperiled

Charges Officers Objected to Lectures in Colleges

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (P)—Rev. John N. Sayre, Episcopal minister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Justice Woodrow Wilson Sayre, has written to Secretary of War Davis complaining that army officers are harassing opponents of compulsory military training in seeking to deprive them of their right of free speech. Mr. Sayre specifically charges that Lieut.-Col. George Chase Lewis of the Regular Army and of the Ninety-fifth Infantry Division objected to his addressing students of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, and that, perhaps in consequence, students who were opposed to the compulsory military training there and who attempted to arrange a meeting for him to address them, were unable to obtain the use of the university Y.M.C.A. hall.

Mr. Sayre, who is a member of the Civil Liberties Union and vice-chairman of the Committee on Militarism in Education, declares that Lieut.-Col. Lewis wrote a letter from Oklahoma City to the president of the university, stating his objections to Mr. Sayre and calling him more dangerous than an "open Communist."

The officer called attention to the fact that Mr. Sayre had signed an appeal for a $200,000 fund for the defense of Soviet organizers in Bridgman, Mich.

Mr. Sayre declared in his letter to the Secretary of War that he is not and never has been a Communist, and that he signed the letter because of his belief that any man accused of violating a law is entitled to a fair trial.

"I should like to know," says the letter, "whether you consider it a proper function of an army officer to attempt to shut off free speech for peace in universities, Y.M.C.A.s, and even churches?"

"Finally, may I ask if the War Department does not take energetic measures to restrain Lieut.-Col. Lewis and others in activities similar to the case mentioned, will I not be justified in charging that the War Department is responsible for the campaign of defamation of character and attempts to suppress free speech for peace in which its subordinates are engaged?"

Mr. Sayre also declares he was refused permission to make addresses at the Universities of Missouri and Indiana, and that no one can speak on the University of Wyoming campus without the endorsement of the R.O.T.C. officer.

REFUSAL OF UNIVERSITY Y.M.C.A. HALL DENIED

NORMAN (Okla.) Dec. 27. (P)—Dr. W. B. Russell, president of the University of Oklahoma, today denied that he had ever refused Rev. John N. Sayre permission to speak against compulsory military training in the Y.M.C.A. building at the university. He explained that such matters always pass through the president's office.

"No person ever made a request to me for use of any of the university

CANNIBAL PRESERVE URGED

English Naturalist Wants New Guinea Primitives Protected from Civilization

Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Walter Goodfellow, great English naturalist, despite several narrow escapes from death and some close encounters with the savagery of the ways of nature's simple human children. "It's a crazy idea, I know," he said, "but I should like to see New Guinea set aside as a preserve for primitive man. Close it to the traders and missionaries. Let cannibalism alone. It has its own natural check. Men three are living in the Stone Age, and unless something is done, people a hundred years hence will have no opportunity to study such savages. New Guinea is one of the last remnants of untouched nature."

Mr. Goodfellow's brief for cannibalism is not quite so specific as it sounds in his plea for a natural preserve for primitive man. It is only that he feels that when cannibalism goes, some interesting and harmless things will necessarily accompany it into oblivion.

WHY WASTE FOOD?

"The natives are gradually coming under the sway of civilization," Mr. Goodfellow said, "and many island tribes have been weaned from cannibalism. Others, who still practice it, are ashamed of it and pretend to have dropped it. There are still quite a number, however, who, in response to your remonstrances will say: 'Why should we waste food?'"

"Horrible, indeed, but if we could understand their inner craving for meat of any kind, we might not feel so revolted. Birds feed on birds, they argue. Fish on fish, and animals on animals. So why should not men feed on men? It seems quite natural to them."

Mr. Goodfellow has roamed over the wild places of the world for thirty years and is one of the most re-buildings by Mr. Sayre. All I know is that Mr. Sayre arranged to speak at one of the churches in Norman," Dr. Russell said.

WYOMING EDUCATOR SAYS CHARGE IS FALSE

LARAMIE (Wyo.) Dec. 27. (P)—Dr. A. O. Crane, president of University of Wyoming, and Maj. C. B. Daly, in charge of the Wyoming R.O.T.C., today declared false the charge by the Rev. John N. Sayre that no one could speak on the university campus without endorsement of the R.O.T.C. officer on duty.

The statement is entirely false and is not worthy of serious attention, President Crane said.

PORTLAND ASKS FASTER TRAINS

Wants to be Put on Parity With Los Angeles

Mileage Basis Declared to be Almost Identical

Lines Say Fast Runs Not Justified by Traffic

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Portland is making a spirited fight, so far without avail, to be placed on a parity with Los Angeles and San Francisco as to eastern train time. At present Portland has a seventy-hour train service to Chicago as compared with a sixty-three-hour service between Chicago and the California cities. While there is talk of still further reduction in running time, Portland remains practically a business day behind the two chief California cities.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Portland Traffic and Transportation Association have laid their case before the railroad officials and are backing it up with individual appeals from business interests and a campaign in the newspapers. They cite the fact that on a mileage basis Portland is entitled to the service, being 2282 miles from Chicago, whereas San Francisco is 2261 and Los Angeles, 2288 miles. What particularly galls the Portland interests is that the Chicago trains to Portland and the California cities travel more than half the distance, or 1332 miles, on exactly the same schedule. From the point of convergence the California trains travel on a fast schedule, while the Portland trains jog along at an easy pace, with evidently deliberate attempt not to lower the seventy-hour schedule. Indeed, it is contended here that there is a gentlemen's agreement between the several railroads not to cut the present running time.

Associated Gas and Electric System

Founded in 1852

The Greatest Step Toward Economical Electric Power

The first steam turbine in the United States was installed in 1895 in New York City. Since then the turbine has been developed to a high degree of efficiency by American engineers.

The invention and use of the steam turbine has been the greatest step toward economical electric power in the history of the industry.

Instead of 12 pounds of coal per kilowatt hour of electricity 30 years ago, efficient plants now require less than 2 pounds. Advances of this kind are making possible the widespread and growing use of electricity by city, village and farm.

New steam turbines of the latest design are now being installed to care for the growing electrical needs of the Associated properties serving Staten Island, New York and Erie, Pennsylvania.

Flames Cause Death and Damage Near Ventura

Where Holocaust Took Its Toll

Above—The twisted heavy steel, wrecked machinery and distorted pipes show how the explosion and fire ravaged the plant. Below—The 2000-gallon steel tank is the one whose top end was blown off without warning and sprayed gasoline over a large area, causing the fire and second explosion. The tank end is plainly shown in the picture. A similar tank beside the demolished one was blown to atoms by the nearly 2000 gallons of gasoline it contained.

THREE KILLED IN OIL EXPLOSIONS

Score Hurt and Three More May Die at Ventura

Inferno Started When Top of Tank Blows Off

Flaming Gasoline Sprayed on Fleeing Workmen

BY JOSEPH M. PARK
Times Staff Correspondent

VENTURA, Dec. 27.—Two terrific explosions that sprayed nearly 4000 gallons of blazing gasoline high into the air transformed the General Petroleum Company's absorption plant near here today into a roaring inferno that caused the death of three men, severely injured nearly a score of entrapped workmen, caused $75,000 of property damage and may yet cost three more lives. The dead are W. W. McLindon, Shelby LeJume and Samuel T. Ingraham.

David Carruthers, plant superintendent, was unable to account for the explosion. He said he was in the plant at the time of the explosion. He said he was in the plant at the time of the explosion. He said he was in the plant at the time of the explosion.

The rain of gasoline was ignited by a fire under nearby buildings and with a terrible roar the flames centered like lightning into the top of the tank, which this time erupted a liquid fire. More than a score of workmen were said to be within the tank when it exploded.

Within half an hour after the explosion and fire and while workmen were rushing to get out of the tank, which this time erupted a liquid fire. More than a score of workmen were said to be within the tank when it exploded.

In the hospital also is J. R. Pineda, of Ventura, a regular employee, father of two children, who may not recover. Others who are in the hospital are F. J. Garrett of Ventura, a regular employee.

Others injured in the explosion were not of the company's regular staff but were on a vacation. They were not of the company's regular staff but were on a vacation. They were not of the company's regular staff but were on a vacation.

THAT the average man of wealth lives thirty-five years longer than the usual span of the average life is revealed by statistics.

It is doubtful if this is as true as other states as of California where rich men live normal out-of-door lives.

Nevertheless, it is nearly enough true everywhere to be a cruel and bitter fact. Worrying over money has killed more men than all the wars of the world put together.

MONEY—MONEY—MONEY Money, they say, doesn't bring happiness. But about the most poignant, sudden misery that can smother the human heart with woe is the empty place where the money ought to be.

AT SIXTY YEARS The turning point for most men takes place at about 60. If he has been successful, he ease off on the accelerator; and peacefully coasts along the rest of the trip. If he is still struggling for success, his sixtieth birthday marks the beginning of a final, frantic, frenzied attempt—which usually kills him—a worn-out, battered old engine.

PURSUING HAPPINESS All you can get out of this life is happiness. Some men get happiness out of leading medicine into crooked children; others building bridges; others trying lawsuits. Some by chasing butterflies.

STIFLED DESIRE The most distressing cancer that can eat into your soul is stifled desire of one sort or another. A man who is really and truly certain he wants to spend his life hunting butterflies should do so at any cost.

GABRIEL, GABRIEL, GABRIEL! A little day has opened a fruit store in a neighborhood in which I am interested. Already he has a strong hold on the trade. The reason is easily seen. In the same neighborhood is a little roadside cafe, a garage, a meat-and-grocery store and florist. This morning I intended to stop at the garage, but passed on because the garage man was entertaining a lot of corner-store loafers. The cafe was empty because the waitresses were having a gay conversation in the kitchen. When they finally did emerge it was hard to break into their gossip long enough to ask for butter.

DEEP CAUSES OF WAR TOLD Bar Association Plans Campaign on Legislation

Paul Harvey Shows City Club Underlying Economic Pressure That Calls for New Solution

Paul Harvey, lecturer and member of the International Chamber of Commerce, in the first of a series of lectures on international relations given yesterday morning at the Moorock Theater under the auspices of the Women's City Club, stressed the idea that war and peace are consequences or by-products of more fundamental conditions and that it is impossible to outlaw war and establish peace apart from their real causes.

Speaking on "Building the Causes of Peace" he said that to understand the genesis of the World War we must look deeper than militarism or military autocracy, for back of militarism and national greed are the fear of security and our courts. The appointment of this educational committee is of such importance that we will be unable to announce the full list until our next meeting. It is our purpose to provide every organization with one member, whose duty it will be to see to it that his particular club has a copy of and is acquainted with the proposed measures before the Legislature.

President Eugene Overton said: "We feel that it is our responsibility to assist the public in arriving at a real conception of the many bills that are before the Legislature, particularly those affecting our own country and our courts. The appointment of this educational committee is of such importance that we will be unable to announce the full list until our next meeting. It is our purpose to provide every organization with one member, whose duty it will be to see to it that his particular club has a copy of and is acquainted with the proposed measures before the Legislature."

Other officers chosen are: Vice-president, Dr. John McInnis, dean of the Bible Institute; secretary-treasurer, Rev. J. A. V. Pietera, Catholic Church of Ingwood; and chairman of the program committee, Rev. William E. Rafferty, editor-in-chief of the International Journal of Religious Education, Philadelphia. The speaker of the day, his subject was, "The Religious Education of Young People for the Future of Life." Several musical selections were given by the Men's Club of the Bible Institute under the direction of Prof. J. B. Brownbridge.

PAYING PROTESTS DENIED The paying of Verdun avenue in the West Adams district, from Adams street to Jefferson street, was assured yesterday when the City Council denied protests against the improvement.

PORT BEACH WORK BEGUN

Sand Being Shifted from Inner Harbor at San Pedro to Form Play Shore at Point Fermin

At noon yesterday began the shifting of sand from the inner harbor of San Pedro to an outer area beyond the government breakwater, to form a municipal playground extending 1000 feet into the ocean and 5000 feet under Point Fermin. Only once before has such an undertaking been tried and that when a beach frontage was made at Coney Island. The total cost will exceed $200,000.

At a special meeting of the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Commission held early yesterday morning, a contract was signed with the United Dredging Company for the use of material to be taken out of the harbor to deepen the channel in accordance with government requirements. Within two hours work had been laid and pumping began.

WATCH START OF WORK Representatives of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce, the San Pedro Women's Club and the City Council, were present at the starting of the new work. The major project of an ocean-front playground, built by fill on the outer side of the harbor breakwater, will probably be supplemented by two ovals, areas within the breakwater. One of them will be a corner piece and the other will be a matter of twelve acres that has been offered by the Harbor Commission and which will be considered at a joint meeting tomorrow.

DAM CONSULTANTS HIRED

Experts Recommended by Chamber Will be Paid $30,000 for San Gabriel Survey

Action to settle one of the controversy over plans for the San Gabriel flood control project was taken by the Board of Supervisors yesterday. On the recommendation of a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, the Supervisors voted to employ three well-known engineers to make a complete new survey of the project and to report both on its technical and economic phases.

The engineers who will serve under this arrangement, as announced yesterday, are Charles H. Paul, chief engineer of the Miami Conservancy District and builder of the Arrowrock Dam, a resident of Dayton, O.; Charles D. Marx, professor of civil engineering at Stanford University.

Business representatives of the chamber the committee was composed of spokesmen for the Los Angeles Clearinghouse, the Los Angeles Section, American Society of Civil Engineers, Municipal League and California Taxpayers' Association. "We believed this method was the proper one to facilitate the whole project of San Gabriel flood control," the report said. "The different groups are now come together and have agreed that, regardless of any ideas they may have, they will support wholeheartedly the findings of the engineers recommended. Those engineers are available at once. They can complete the survey and make their report by January 1st."

HISTORY CITED FOR PANELS

Art Commission Offers Array of Suitable Subjects Featuring Story of Los Angeles for Doors to be Placed on New City Hall

Having put its artistic foot down on the plans to decorate the bronze doors of the $5,000,000 City Hall with Roman gladiators in action, the Municipal Art Commission yesterday told the Board of Public Works that the doors should set forth in sculptured bronze important features in the history of California.

The commission was told some weeks ago that not much history could be shown in a door panel, to which the commission replied that a great deal of history does exist in a door panel. The commission yesterday followed this with definite recommendations for the events to be shown in the door panels. The commission said that the main entrance of the new City Hall should commemorate in a worthy manner the history of the City of Los Angeles, by the erection of bronze doors fittingly designed to depict the following historical events:

BY MR. RALPH L. POWER
For the past few months, there has been a noticeable change in the attitude of the average Los Angeles housewife toward the radio. It is no longer a luxury, but a necessity. It is no longer a novelty, but a familiar friend. It is no longer a source of entertainment, but a source of information. It is no longer a source of amusement, but a source of education. It is no longer a source of distraction, but a source of companionship. It is no longer a source of escape, but a source of reality. It is no longer a source of fantasy, but a source of truth. IDEALS AND PROGRESS

CHIEF among the factors that contribute to the growth and progress and prosperity of any community is the character of the people who live in it.

Beside it count for nothing the richest natural blessings with which any area can be endowed. The most favorable climate, the most fertile soil, the greatest wealth in natural resources, all combined, cannot make of it a great or even an important part of the world if its population, however numerous, is lacking in those human elements which rise above the primitive instincts of self-interest and self-gratification.

For centuries the richest and most favored portions of America were numerously peopled by aborigines whose race history was one unmarked by a single contribution to the welfare of mankind at large, whose children stood in the footmarks of their fathers and their fathers' fathers and advanced not a whit beyond the moment's needs.

Today the same soil from which they scratched a meager living produces food for millions; the resources and opportunities which lay unused at their hand have been utilized in the structure of a complex and mighty civilization; the forests they hunted are the sites of teeming cities; the streams they fished are harnessed to provide light and heat and power for homes and industries past counting. Land then worth absolutely nothing because put to no useful purpose is now valued at more per front foot than the worth of the aggregate of tribal assets.

And yet the men and women who wrought these marvels of civilization were physically no more able than their aboriginal predecessors, their senses no more keen, their endurance no greater, their numbers in the beginning even less. If scientists are right it is even doubtful if their native intelligence was any higher.

In a lesser degree but no less positively the same phenomenon is to be observed today between different communities whose natural advantages are so nearly balanced as to be essentially identical. Nature's law of compensation operates to endow them almost equally. What one has that the other lacks is offset by advantages in the opposite favor.

Yet in the one will be observed a degree of progress and prosperity out of all proportion to that of the other, and without obvious physical reason for the difference. There are in the one more and bigger industries, more workers, higher wages, better schools, less crime, poverty and unhappiness, higher property values, more churches, more morally inspired people, more culture, more leisure and withal a constantly greater influx of newcomers to become permanent residents than in others of apparently no smaller native advantages.

With this edition of The Times appears the yearly milestone of the progress of Southern California—the forty-second annual Times Midwinter Number. It is primarily a record of a year's achievement in a section which yearly has set new world's records for growth in wealth and population and yearly has shattered them and set new ones higher.

In the several sections of this extraordinary record specialists in many lines of human endeavor have set down in words and photographs various important factors contributing to the staggering aggregate. What soil and climate and almost unlimited resources of water and power and raw materials have made possible in crops and live stock, manufactures and industries, mining and drilling, vocations and avocations, is set out in facts and figures that cannot be doubted or denied.

Yet the greatest factor of all appears only by implication, for it cannot be photographed or measured, reduced to figures or otherwise made visible. It is the greatest because of itself it explains why Southern California has outstripped other sections of the world whose natural advantages are as great, whose people are equally intelligent, efficient and industrious. It explains why property values are higher here, and remain higher under all conditions than those of more congested areas elsewhere. Especially does it explain why Southern California is a magnet for the better class of people in every quarter of the earth, people who come here notwithstanding that place of equal desirability from a climatic standpoint are more conveniently located.

Perhaps more clearly than at any previous time Southern California identified this factor at the general election in November, when were presented what for want of a better term were called certain "moral issues," such as the proposal to restore race-track gambling in California, to abolish the State machinery for enforcing the prohibition law, to permit the Bible to be read in the public schools, etc.

Important as were these propositions, they were less significant than was the overwhelming vote cast by Southern California for their moral side, for upholding prohibition, against gambling and for the Bible. Majorities that ran into hundreds of thousands were thrown into strong relief by equally large majorities reflecting opposite views in other parts of the State and, on the prohibition question, in other parts of the country.

The results made it obvious that Southern California was not voting for or against a certain specific set of issues as much as it was voicing deep-rooted conviction on fundamentals of ethics and character. It was a vote for ideals and for right thinking in no matter what direction. If any one of a dozen other possible "moral issues" had been presented the result would have been the same.

Years ago Southern California declared itself no less unmistakably upon another issue which, if not precisely one of morals, is in no smaller degree fundamental to the popular welfare. That stand was taken when a little group of self-appointed industrial dictators attempted to vest themselves and their successors with the right to tell workmen how and when and where and for whom they should work, on pain of being, for disobedience to such gratuitous orders, deprived of the right to work at all.

Against such industrial enslavement, abhorrent to every American tradition, Southern California set its face. Led by Los Angeles, which was advertised the country over as the "scab city," this section began forty years ago to acquire the nation-wide reputation of being a place where men could sell their labor how and where they pleased and where manufacturers could establish themselves with the assurance of plenty of free workers and of freedom from outside dictation as to how they should run their businesses.

The result of that declaration for an ideal is written in the astounding statistical record of the industrial growth of Southern California. That reputation, which its enemies hoped would work its ruin, has brought here by tens of thousands former union men weary and disgusted and bled white by the ceaseless demands of their "labor organizations." It has filled our industrial areas with factories financed, owned and operated by business men who have come here to escape the multiplied exactions and harassments of the walking delegate.

As the ideal of industrial liberty has attracted to Southern California those who believe in that principle and has repelled those who do not, so have other Southland ideals brought here the class that shares them and kept away those of opposite views. Like attracts like and those possessed of high character and lofty moral sense gravitate to the communities of similar characteristics just as certainly as do their opposites avoid them.

The corollary is too obvious to require detailed exposition. Southern California has made for herself the name of a community of solid, stable, right-thinking people of character and ideals which direct and dominate their activities. That reputation has brought here and is bringing in ever-greater numbers men and women of like beliefs from every part of the world. And because these are the qualities which from the beginning have made possible the maximum of progress and prosperity, even civilization itself, the Southland has prospered and progressed to a degree far beyond that traceable to her generous natural endowment.

In the forty-two years whose record is written in the successive Midwinter Numbers of the Los Angeles Times Southern California has made such advances in population, in wealth, in industry, in commerce, in cultural and educational achievement as the world never saw elsewhere in any similar period. The character and the ideals of its people, chief factors in these accomplishments, have crystallized and become permanent to a point where their beneficent influence will not only endure but will increase as time proceeds. Accepting the past as no more than a conservative criterion for that which the future shall bring forth, it is no mere idle prophecy or wild guess to predict that here will civilization and human attainment achieve their zenith.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Altadena, with her Christmas Lane, has an example that might well be numerously emulated. It is estimated that half a million people drive out to see the great Christmas trees ablaze with lights each season and more is the wonder that the feature has not been extended in this region of open air holiday weeks.

Suppose each bungalow owner in Los Angeles should plant in his grounds a deciduous tree, which is more beautiful, and each Christmas week string it with colored lights and ornaments. It would require no great capacity to visualize the scene—miles of illuminated Christmas trees! The cost to each would be slight. The strings of lights and ornaments could be stored from year to year, so that the first cost would be approximately the total. The trees could be had cheaply at the nurseries.

It is only a matter of time until the slaughter of young forests for Christmas purposes, except those planted commercially, will be prohibited and Los Angeles people could well provide against the day by having their own Christmas trees in their own yards, to be used in a manner that would vastly add to the attractiveness of the city both for tourists and residents.

There is a wealth of symbolism in a Christmas tree. Aside from its individual beauty, which is in itself inspirational, it is suggestive of good will, good cheer, abundance and happiness. As a symbol for Los Angeles it would be no inappropriate selection, and the planting and annual decorating of thousands of them in the bungalow lawns would add vastly to this city's wealth of things that are desirable.

LOTTA, THE IMMORTAL

By the dispatches telling of the fight over the will of Lotta Crabtree old-timers again reminded of a vivid and unique figure in the history of American drama. That Lotta, as she was known by Californians during her thirty-six years of stage life, or from the time she made her debut in Petaluma to her retirement in 1890, should have piled up a fortune of $4,000,000 was no more to be wondered at than that her heirs should quarrel over her estate.

Though she never married, and consequently never was divorced, Lotta's career was in other respects much like that of other highly successful and intensely popular actresses, though few in America ever have been so idolized. California counted her as its own, as she made her reputation in this State and always referred to it as home. "California Lotta," as she was called to distinguish her from the many imitative Lottas of her day, was a household word during the '80s and '90s.

She was an idol, a nation-wide craze. Her popularity in England was great, though she had an unfortunate introduction to London due to the disgrace that attached to her leading man, an Englishman who was mixed up in an unsavory divorce case. T. P. O'Connor said at her death: "We never could all the triumphant beauties and artists of our stage history—we never had anything like Lotta."

Beauty and vivacity were Lotta's chief assets. She rioted all over the stage. She was not a great actress, appearing generally in southerly or child parts in simple melodramas, but her vivid and fetching personality made her a great winner with the common people. The whole world loved her and she loved the world, as was partly evidenced by her leaving over half her fortune to disabled service men. That her will should be in dispute is regrettable; but that is the way with wills, whether they be those of great celebrities or of common folk who happen to have left money behind them instead of getting rid of it during their lifetime by wasteful ways or otherwise, which was never the idea of the thrifty Lotta.

Dispatches from Paris say that over 400,000 foreigners have announced their intention of becoming citizens of France. Perhaps they have expectations of landing cabinet jobs, while some may be fugitives from the operations of the Righteous Amendment.

FICTION AND TRUTH

By The Football Philosopher

The blind father of a noted baseball pitcher was proud of his son and always attended the games to hear his boy praised. On the eve of an important game the father died, but the grief-stricken lad refused to desert his team and appeared in the pitcher's box on schedule time. At first he did poor work and members of the opposing team felt that it was going to be a "walk-away" for them.

Something there is in the mind or soul of man that is always watching him and prompting him to do his best—a "something" that will not be satisfied with anything short of success. "Boss," said Sambo to the farmer, "I found out yesterday what it means to do 'o' level best. I always thought I was good runner, but yesterday, when that bull got after me I found out what my level best means."

This "something" in man, this conquering spirit, brooks no argument. It is authoritative. It is the source of all true inspiration. A man in an asylum imagined himself to be the deity. A reporter, visiting the institution, said to him: "Since you are the Almighty you doubtless can answer any question. Please tell me how you reconcile the apparently conflicting doctrines of free moral agency and predestination." The deity straightened up and said, "Sir, I don't talk shop."

The soul of man is supreme. It does not cavil. It does not "talk shop." Its presence and manifestation rebuke sophistry and worldly wisdom. It allows a man to prove to his own mind that, because of causes he does not understand and of sequences and consequences he is not a responsible being—and, when he is through arguing, the inescapable, self-conscious, moral, responsible soul stands there smiling, and the intellect bows in adoration.

WHEN HE COMES!

Suggested by a hymn, heard in the "Shouters" (colored) church at Nassau, Bahamas, in 1906. There's a King and Captain high, Who'll be coming, by-and-by; And He'll find me hoeing cotton when He comes.

When He comes! When He comes! All the dead shall rise, in answer to His drum; Oh, the fires of His encampment star the firmament on high; And the heavens shall roll asunder, when He comes.

There's a man they thrust aside, Who was tortured till he died; And He'll find me hoeing cotton, when He comes. Oh, the fires of His encampment star the firmament on high; And the heavens shall roll asunder, when He comes.

When He comes! When He comes! He'll be rined by saints and angels, when He comes; They'll be calling out "Hosanna!" to the Man that men denied; And I'll kneel among the cotton—

When He comes.

SOLDIERS' HOME (Annot. Hospital) Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We, the patients at the Soldiers' Home, will be much obliged if you will permit us, through your columns, to thank the Employees' Association of the Broadway Department Store for the loving interest which at every Yuletide it evinces for us.

This hospital was first occupied in the fall of 1921; that Christmas the Broadway Department Store employees gave an entertainment here and useful presents to every patient and have done the same every Christmas since then.

Each night many of the employees who had worked hard yesterday and will work hard today sacrificed their rest to come down here, furnish an entertainment and not only distribute presents to all patients, but also a $5 bill to every patient who receives no pension or compensation.

From the bottom of our hearts we thank these good people and thank you for permitting us to publish our thanks.

Wishing the Broadway Department Store employees and The Times force a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Faith Mission

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is one place in Los Angeles which no mention is made of the good work being done. I mean Faith Mission for girls and women. I believe it is the only place in this beautiful city where girls and women find real help and comfort. It is a great work, and although still young, it will grow, as one of God's holy places. Women and girls out of work and no money find at this place something to eat and a cheerful, grateful message. I know of no more holy work than helping the poor.

This letter is not solicited by the mission, but I hope it will appeal to all who can help a good cause.

Santa Monica, Tex.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] During the past year a comparatively immense area adjacent to the eastern line of Santa Monica has been, as the phrase is, "developed." Streets have been paved, curbs and sidewalks, even where ground squirrels monopolize the traffic and in the Mexican settlement, despite the protests in some instances, have been virtually every resident on a street. Of course, particularly in the exclusive, squirrel districts, the nonresident owners as a rule know nothing about it.

I am a resident owner of several hundred feet frontage, but I have received no notice whatever of any assessment, nor have any of my neighbors of whom I have inquired. By persistent personal inquiry at the local City Hall it has been ascertained that bonds have been already issued to cover the cost of this street work, that it is already too late to pay the sum as assessed without extra penalty, and that interest and an installment of one-tenth of the principal will become delinquent after January 2 next. Presumably, therefore, any unfortunate and uninformed owner who fails to call immediately upon the Santa Monica tax collector, present the legal description of his property and demand information as to the amount assessed against it, will be subjected to such penalties and suits for their recovery as have been reported in your columns this morning and in the form of letters from victims on several previous occasions. It can readily be seen that in the case of illiterate persons or those otherwise unfamiliar with the technical requirements of such proceedings little homes may be actually lost to pay the unasked and unnecessary "improvement" of streets. Incidentally, the lowest cost per front foot for the cheapest "improvement" in this district is about $5. No wonder that contractors can afford European trips.

And some of these streets are actually already breaking up.

GOVERNMENT RAINDS FOXES
The fall sales of Canadian pelts at Montreal recently netted $1,400,000, most of the skins going to the United States. An event of some significance in the Canadian fur industry is the establishment of an experimental fox station at Summerside, Prince Edward Island. Completed last year by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, it has got securely under way by the donation of five acres of land and twenty-five pairs of foxes by local fox men, and is expected to be of inestimable benefit to fox breeders and other fur farmers all over the Dominion. It contains thirty-five breeding pens, thirty-five dog pens and two large eating pens. There are offices, laboratories, a watch tower which permits view of every pen, a large ranch and other buildings, all well constructed. The investigation work is under the charge of an expert in fur farming, a Quebec research station, and every phase of fox farming will be investigated, more especially the feeding and breeding of the ranch-bred fox.

A WASTED OPPORTUNITY
A bishop was eating dinner with his host before the afternoon service at the cathedral. He ate very little, explaining that it is not good for a preacher to eat heavily before a sermon. The housewife could not understand the service, as she had the supper to prepare. When her husband came home, she said, "Well, how was he?" The bishop drawing a sigh replied, "He might just as well eat."

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "He is 19," said the mother, "and never eats candy or fruit while doing his practice."

The adjective in "pioneer" means you are not on or off the pioneer's job, either.

On most of the advertisements you see in the paper, the word "pioneer" is used. It is a word that means you are not on or off the pioneer's job, either.

Sophistication: Learning to be a pioneer, though you didn't want to be a pioneer.

It is worthy of note that statues are erected to honor men who have done good, but no women to honor them.

Rumor of Husband's Divorce Plan

Chaplin's Lawyer Denies
Such Contemplation

Charles Chaplin will not be divorcing his wife, according to the rumor which has been circulating for some time. The rumor was first started by a Los Angeles newspaper, and has since been picked up by other papers.

Chaplin's divorce complaint was filed in the Los Angeles Superior Court on December 22. The complaint was filed by Chaplin's wife, Paulette Goddard, and was for divorce on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Marie T. Whitehead was granted a divorce from John Whitehead yesterday by Judge Walter S. Gates after affectionate letters, said to have been written by her husband to "Hazel," were introduced into court by her attorney, Griffith Jones.

"Love and lots of it, H.," was the ending of one of the letters to "Hazel," while another was addressed to "Dearest Hazel."

Another letter addressed to "Dearest Hazel," read in part: "Sweetheart, when I read your sweet little letter I felt that I had been very unkind to you in mistaking your love for me and that I still love you."

Mrs. Whitehead told the court her husband was abusive to her.

OPENING OF PEACOCK INN TO BE TODAY

New Coffee Shop Will be Under Supervision of Alexandria's Chef

Under the culinary supervision of Rene, Alexandria chef, the Peacock Inn, designed as a coffee shop and luncheon room with both table and lunch-counter service, will be opened today at 519 South Spring street by the Alexandria management. The new dining place is only a few doors south of the Spring-street entrance to the Alexandria lobby and is intended to ease comfortably for the overflow of patrons of the hotel's dining-room.

Unusual pains have been taken to make the Peacock Inn attractive. Comfortable revolving Windsor chairs at the lunch counter, more than $10,000 worth of Spanish tiling on walls and floors, and a handsome inner dining-room equipped with black onyx-topped tables are among the many features. By an ingenious arrangement of dumb waiters many of the daily dishes are sent direct from the Alexandria kitchen, while the new luncheon room also is equipped with ranges for short orders.

Favorite dishes from the menu of the Alexandria's Franco-Italian dining-room and self-service restaurant will be served in the Peacock Inn, which will feature a special luncheon service and a plate dinner every evening.

Take No Chances
When using a chafing dish always place it on a tray before lighting the flame. A slight draught will frequently cause the flame to flare out and an unprotected table cover or dottle underneath will readily catch fire.

COMPLAINT REFUSED FOR AUTHOR OF POEM

Deputy City Prosecutor Cotteau yesterday declined to issue a complaint against Charles H. Magee, a newspaper reporter in Judge Burdick's court, following a hearing to determine whether a satirical poem, "The Antics of Almo," written by Magee, contains criminal libel. The matter was held in abeyance and no complaint will be filed unless further action is requested. Magee stated that all the statements contained in the poem are true and were taken from transcripts of the grand jury investigation and the preliminary hearing of Almo Temple McPherson, and therefore were privileged for publication. He added that he had issued 10,000 copies of the poem, which contains 248 stanzas, and expected to publish another 10,000. He also declared that he had been threatened over the telephone recently because of the satire.

Actions Filed in Federal Court Against Wholesale Liquor Confraternities

Suit was filed yesterday in the Superior Court of Fresno county by the Southern California Edison Company against the Heringhaus estate following failure of the Edison company to obtain reversal of the court decision in favor of the Heringhaus heirs handed down more than a year ago restricting the company in its diversion and impounding of the waters of the San Joaquin River and its tributaries. The suit is a counter move in a long legal fight waged in the courts which resulted in the holding of the claims of the Heringhaus estate as riparian owners to the flood waters of the San Joaquin which, it was asserted, were being diverted and impounded by the Edison Company to such an extent that land which was normally irrigated and covered with a rich alluvial deposit during the flood season and which was of material value to the Heringhaus property were diverted from their lands.

The Edison company maintains that it has the right to use waters from the San Joaquin and its tributaries so long as such waters are returned to the course of the river. In its suit filed yesterday against the Heringhaus heirs, the company requests the court to determine the amount of damages which should be paid on condemnation and to issue a court order condemning whatever rights are necessary for the storage plans. The company also maintains that its function as a public-service corporation should entitle it to exercise the right of condemnation.

Adverse court decisions in the Fresno County Superior Court and the State Supreme Court, have restricted the hydroelectric development projects of the company, it asserts.

Last Friday when the State Supreme Court handed down the decision against the company, Justice Shenk filed a dissenting opinion, in which he declared that "this decision will result in checking progress of the State of California in conserving this most important resource (hydroelectric power)." He added that "the trial court should find damages, if any, and the plaintiff should not be upheld in its position on the present wasteful use or method of use continuing."

Commenting on the decision, R. H. Ballard, executive vice-president and general manager of the company, declared that "the decision will be a way opener to stop the water power development which the Edison company is carrying on. It merely will require that the company in providing for storage in the future will acquire the rights adversely affected by such storage."

Story of Giant Trout in New Zealand Intrigues California Sportsmen

A newspaper yarn to the effect that California rainbow trout transplanted to the waters of New Zealand attain a weight of from sixteen to twenty pounds so intrigued J. C. Webb of Redlands, that he is now packing up his fish hooks and will leave for New Zealand the end of the present week.

"I have fished California and Oregon trout and will leave for New Zealand and thought trout were incapable of doing more than they do on the Pacific Coast," said Webb, who is at the Alexandria. "Having nothing else to do for the next few months I thought I would make a personal investigation of the matter."

Webb will be accompanied by another ardent California sportsman, J. K. Burnham of San Francisco. In addition to the trout, they hope to capture a few of the big game fish and variety found only off the New Zealand coast.

"I am told that an American sportsman caught a 900-pound swordfish in that locality last year, and I will have to get that fish myself this season," said Webb. "They have the marlin and the broadbill, and the New Zealanders have of Catalina, but in addition, they have another and much larger species known as the blue marlin and that's the fellow I'm after."

HOERTIGS OPEN FIGHT FOR DECREE

'Superior' Wife Gets Home Alimony and Custody of Children in First Clash

Mrs. Caroline E. Hoertig has been awarded the home and furniture at 811 East Forty-sixth street, temporary custody of her children and $100 monthly alimony by Judge Scott pending trial of her contested divorce action against Richard F. Hoertig.

Mrs. Hoertig based her complaint on cruelty. Hoertig in a cross-complaint charged his wife with leaving his home voluntarily, claiming she had chosen to change of persons who convinced her they could communicate with her dead parents and who led her to believe she was superior to her husband.

Hoertig stated his wife often attacked him and that he was forced to restrain her to protect himself. He denied using more force than justified.

The Hoertigs had lived together eighteen years. In her complaint the wife valued the community property at $6000 for the home, $40,000 for forty acres of land near Escondido and $15,000 for an ornamental farm business conducted by her husband. She declared the business yields an income of $500 monthly. Hoertig denied this income would go over $200, further contending her valuation of the property was excessive.

NEW BRIDE-STAR FOR PARAMOUNT

Lil Dagover Has Joy of Acting Opposite Jamnigs, Too;
Rupert Hughes to Supervise for Universal; Another
Bright Script Girl Wins Prize

Another new and extremely distinguished member is to be added to Hollywood's foreign colony today. This afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, if fate does not doublecross her, Lil Dagover, for the past six years an UFA star, and known as the most beautiful woman in Germany, will arrive in Los Angeles to appear in Paramount pictures, according to announcement by B. P. Schulberg, associate producer. Not only is Miss Dagover a star, but she is also a bride, which should delight the romantic hearts of our Hollywood.

from a professional standpoint, but it will also serve as a honeymoon tour for Miss Dagover. It all happened this way: When Erich Pommer came to the United States some months ago to make pictures for Paramount, he was accompanied by George Witt as his assistant. Witt returned to Germany about four months ago to arrange for the coming to America of Emil Jannings. Jannings came, but Mr. Pommer was somewhat mystified that Witt did not return. Time went on, and still Witt did not arrive. Then the secret was revealed: Witt had become completely fascinated by the beauty and charm of Miss Dagover, and he remained in Germany until she said "yes." Then he remained still longer until the "yes" became "I do." Therefore when Miss Dagover arrives today she will be accompanied by her husband, who will resume his duties as Mr. Pommer's assistant. Playing opposite Jannings will be no novelty for Miss Dagover, as she was his leading woman in "The Hypocrite," which was made for UFA. Her other outstanding productions have been "Love Brings Blindness," which Luther Mendler, who is now on the Paramount staff, directed, and "Destiny," a Fritz Lang production. A year ago Miss Dagover temporarily abandoned the screen to appear on the stage in a Max Reinhardt production. She took all Europe by storm. She swept through tremendous triumphs in Paris, Berlin, Vienna and Budapest, but in spite of her sensational success on the stage, she decided to remain in pictures with the American opportunity extended to her.

Miss Dagover makes the fifth foreign player or director to join the Paramount forces within the last few months. Mauritz Stiller was the first, the Swedish director joining the company under long-term contract after his success with Pola Negri's "Hotel Imperial." Then came Emil Jannings, followed by Lotar Mendler, director, Lyda de Futti, star, who arrived two weeks ago, and now Miss Dagover.

Rupert Hughes to supervise. According to what appears to be well-authenticated report, Rupert Hughes is to become supervisor of production at Universal City. Hughes is one of the most popular of American story writers. Of late he has taken writing history, and has stirred up a lot of controversy with his recent book on George Washington.

In case the noted writer takes the position at Universal, this will not be by any means his first picture experience. He was for two years associated with the Goldwyn forces, directing and supervising the filming of many of his own stories. Some of these were tremendously successful. Hughes is one of the best informed men in this country from many standpoints. A university man, he aided in the compilation of one of the best-known encyclopedias of these times. He is a historical authority and is said to possess a memory into which he can dip for information at any time.

Gertrude Olmstead's Christmas Gift. Gertrude Olmstead, who is playing the role of Miss Gregory in "Mr. Wu," Len Chaney's latest starring vehicle, has been given a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, it was announced late yesterday by Irving O. Thalberg, associate studio executive.

The young actress, who has been under contract to M-G-M as a featured player during the last two years, has appeared in a number of big film productions, and is one of the most popular of the younger screen players. Six years ago she won a beauty prize and a screen contract offered by the Elks of Chicago. Since her arrival in Hollywood she has steadily forged to the front as a screen player.

In private life—or in as nearly a private life as any screen player may be said to have—Miss Olmstead is Mrs. Robert Z. Leonard, wife of the M-G-M director.

Steno Turns Author. Once again an ambitious young woman has taken the well-known escalator banner of fame away from the masculine contenders, and is vying it right up to a high spot on the hill of fame.

The certain young woman is none other than Gladys Lehman, who has been working out at Universal City for 10 these many moons, acting as script girl, stenographer, and working in other capacities. But all the time she had a dream. And now the dream has come true, according to the announcement of President Carl Laemmle.

Miss Lehman has just sold her first original story to Universal. It is called "Fast and Furious," and Universal heads think so well of it that they have assigned it as a legend to Denny's next starring vehicle.

And not only that, but they think so well of the story that they have decided that no other director can do justice to it so well as can that clever young man, William Dieter.

it puts Carbon to work

Yes it does! That's one reason why Associated Ethyl is so remarkable a motor-fuel. . . Start using Associated Ethyl and let the carbon in your car alone. Don't burn it out. Don't scrape it out. Keep it there and let more of it form! . . . Associated Ethyl neutralizes the ill effects of carbon. It prevents the heat from carbon from acting, and utilizes the increased compression. It speeds up the revolutions-per-minute of your motor, thus producing more power, more speed, greater flexibility. And it silences those troublesome "knocks". . . Other things you'll notice are faster pick-up and less gear shifting. Associated Ethyl Gasoline will make your motor run like new—gives it renewed vigor and life.

And note what else it does!

IT STOPS THAT "BUCKING" IN TRAFFIC—that jerking from sudden acceleration that puts strain on differential and universal and leads to more gear shifting.

TAKES THAT HILL ON HIGH—try those favorite hills. You'll take many on high where you've been shifting before. On others you'll postpone shifting.

GREATER DRIVING SATISFACTION. With Associated Ethyl Gasoline you'll notice greater power, faster pick-up, less gear shifting, less tendency to over heat the motor.

Associated Ethyl Gasoline gives you these remarkable results because Associated Gasoline is a superfine gasoline to start with. The addition of Ethyl compound will not make a high-grade gasoline out of a mediocre or poor motor fuel. It does develop the inherent power-qualities of good gasoline. It creates, within the motor, improved conditions of combustion, so that the gasoline is able to function to its full capacity.

abilities. The higher quality of the gasoline to which Ethyl is added, the higher the quality of the resulting combination. The color of Associated Ethyl Gasoline is red. But it does not follow that all "red" gasolines are Ethyl gasolines. For your protection, fill from Associated Ethyl Gasoline pumps at Associated service stations or the best independent dealers. Try a tankful of this super-fuel.

Associated Ethyl Gasoline is sold for 3 cents above the regular market price of gasoline.

Associated ETHYL Gasoline

NOTICE: Dilution of Associated Ethyl Gasoline with other gasoline destroys its effectiveness. Therefore it is important to have gasoline tank as empty as possible before filling with Associated Ethyl Gasoline.

Southern California Nation's Playground as King Winter Roars

LIKE the South Pacific islands of fiction, days of the week and months of the year mean little to Southern California. Flowers bloom, birds chortle, grass and shrubbery are green and the palms whisper as lightly in December as they do in June. What the resident of Southern California considers a bitter winter day is balmy September to most of the rest of the nation. In proof of all of which the page of pictures below is a photograph was taken during the month of December between Santa Monica on the north and San Diego on the south. The majority of the photos were taken during the past ten days in and around Los Angeles by men. Many of the photos show national and international celebrities at play.

Making Plant Found in Heart of Chinatown, Detective Declares at Trial

That manufacturing of liquor in gigantic quantities, with the assistance of the leading Chinese tong, and under the supervision of Tong, one of the leading Chinese tongs, was hurried yesterday by Municipal Judge Turney during the trial of one of two defendants charged with possessing liquor and apparatus. The evidence was made from the 3,500 gallons of rice mash. A telephone found in the secret chamber, Reager said, was listed by the telephone company as being located in a business building in Broadway between Fourth and Fifth streets. In response to questions by Deputy City Prosecutor Thoms and Judge Turney, all through an interpreter, Ling denied all connection with the tong. He said that any fine that might be imposed would be paid by his cousin. On a question from the court, Ling said he would not tell, anyway, if the tong was in charge of the place. Judge Turney assessed the maximum fine for first offenders on Ling's guilty plea, imposing fines of $500 each on the two charges. The fine was immediately paid by a "cousin" standing in the courtroom.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

A New Resolve
Instead of New Year's resolutions impossible, if not impossible, instead of hitching the fabulous eight-cylinder timorous to some as yet undescribed planet, let's furnish up the silver for new and steady mileage. Let's resolve something which we have a chance of doing and being. Let's work toward something better in everydayness, instead of dreaming about some far-off nebula. And let's resolve to peg right along steadily at keeping this resolution, from this year's beginning to this year's end! Smiling may not be exciting, but it beats being hung up in a tree top with broken airplane wings.

City Celebration

Each year outdoor festivities grow in favor and especially is more attention given to holiday celebrations in parks and public quarters. Gay Christmas trees in the open, crimson decked and electric lighted, were more than ever numerous this season. Headquarters for distribution of gifts to those in need were more plentiful. The stores, more beautiful at all times in Los Angeles than in any city of our acquaintance, were this year more generously adorned. The public, too, has come to be more appreciative of such gifts of beauty. Many from outlying towns and far localities have made special trips to the metropolis for the snowed purpose of seeing, even though they patriotically patronized their own towns in the Christmas buying. California, more than any place, has facilities for outdoor decorative effects. Such should be more and more a feature of the festive season. In fact, we should make it a point to become world-famous for this.

Plant Plants

After-Christmas money cannot be expended to better or more advantageous use than in the purchase of plants, trees, shrubs and bulbs. Everyone owning or even renting a bit of ground must own such for the purpose of putting it to some beautiful purpose. However small the area, something may be made there to grow. In this delightful climate, where to plant is to have one's choice of growing loveliness indefinitely perpetuated, it should be our ambition to excel. Returning to the East, it is a marvel always to me, that any one there endeavors to raise flower gardens, so brief the season of their blossoming. But here, where there is every encouragement from Dame Nature, every assistance given to our efforts, it seems to me we lag in accepting her advances.

Betterment Resolves

A New Year's resolve which anyone may make and hope to keep, is that of aiming toward better homes, better gardens, better clothes, better living in general. Implanted in nearly every human heart is the love of home. In California, more than anywhere, is home a possibility. Here one may hope to own a home, however humble one's position, and here one may beauty that home at very small expense, so lavishly do flowers, plants, trees and shrubs flourish when once set out, that results are far different from those rigorous places where one must begin anew with every spring and that a belated one.

Having Put to Beauty

Here money which back East must be burned, nullified, in keeping houses warmly habitable, may be used in purchasing handsome furnishings. Think of the amounts sent through the chimneys in the form of coal and wood smoke in those cold climates! Think, also, of the difference in living cost. The price of green vegetables, the expenditures for necessities. Such amounts mean luxurious living here.

In Dress

"I never again could live back East!" exclaimed Editha. "Think of being obliged to lumber one's feet with heavy overalls! To wear thick woollen hose! Miserable! Even to cover one's ears with hoods or scarves to keep warm when venturing out! Think of being swathed in underwear until one would look like the fat lady in a show! Not any of that for me!" And is not Editha correct? Do we forget those back-East discomforts and disadvantages when we grumble over a day of the festive season? Why, our climate is an inestimable help in allowing us to dress beautifully instead of merely warmly!

Cosmopolitan Interest

One of the features highly prized by visitors here is the fact that our stores and shops are so cosmopolitan. "I think Los Angeles possesses more treasures from all the world than does New York," said a recent tourist. "Then, too," he continued, "you are most original here. Whether it is the climate, the stimulus of the sunshine or that here are congregated those of initiative proven by the very fact that they have come so far, certain it is that here you have more unique and original creations than in any other place I know." It is true that here one feels the Orient, the Pacific Islands, Mexico, South America. These places seem nearer to us than on the Atlantic; their products gravitate to us. Then, also, our big stores keep close touch with world marts and choose discriminatingly for patrons. All this adds to the interest of our city.

Fashion News of New Year's

Bracelets, both wide and narrow, are worn in numbers to suit the individual taste. New handbags of crocodile have a smooth, brilliant finish in all the wanted shades. To be in the mode one must avoid wearing anything that gives an appearance of bulk. The square neck, both back and front, is a feature of the formal velvet evening gown. Pearls, combined with crystal, develop necklaces in a wide variety of type and design. Metal cigarette boxes are inexpensive and add a decorative touch to the living-room table. Jackets of metal patterned cashmere are made to be worn with frocks of plain cashmere.

Sioux Uprising of 1862.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

WHILE THE SUMMER OF 1862, WHILE THE SOUTH WAS DOING ON, THE PEOPLE OF THE NORTH WERE STARTLED BY AN UPRISING OF THE POWERFUL TRIBE OF SIOUX INDIANS LIVING IN DAKOTA. FOR A LONG WHILE THESE RED MEN HAD COMPLAINED OF IL TREATMENT AT THE HANDS OF THE WHITE SETTLERS AND HAD AT LAST DECIDED TO GO ON THE WARPATH TO AVENGE THEIR WRONGS.

WHILE ALL BUT A FEW OF THE UNION SOLDIERS WERE AWAY FIGHTING IN THE SOUTH, HORDES OF YELLING, PAINTED INDIANS SWEEPED THROUGH MINNESOTA AND IOWA, SPREADING DEATH AND DESTRUCTION AMONG THE BORDER SETTLEMENTS.

NEARLY A THOUSAND MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN WERE MURDERED WITH FRIGHTFUL CIRCUMSTANCES. FEDERAL TROOPS AND BODIES OF VOLUNTEERS WERE RUSHED TO THE SCENE AND AFTER A HARD-FOUGHT CAMPAIGN THE OUTBREAK WAS SUPPRESSED.

THE LEADERS OF THE HOSTILES WERE TAKEN BY THE SOLDIERS AND TRIED FOR MURDER BEFORE A MILITARY COURT. THIRTY-SEVEN OF THE LOT WERE FOUND GUILTY AND HANGED. TOMORROW—THE "MATTERS" AND THE "ALABAMA."

These daily history strips make a unique pictorial history of America. Hundreds are clipping them daily and pasting them in scrapbooks.
